The Lebanese Bureau of Accounts as Central Control Agency Rima Shafik Shaar,1994 This thesis deals with an important subject: the Lebanese Bureau of Accounts as a central control agency of Lebanon public administration. The purpose of this study is to examine the organizational structures and functions of the Bureau from an administrative perspective with some special emphasis on its main developments and work as prescribed by Law No. 132 enacted on April 14, 1992. It discusses also the importance of financial accountability in government and the necessity of an independent auditing control agency from a comparative perspective. The Bureau of Accounts is an administrative court charged with the supervision of the administration of public funds. Its role is to control administratively the use of public funds and their conformity to the prevailing rules, laws, and regulations. The Bureau of Accounts was established in 1951. It performs both administrative and judicial functions. The administrative functions of the Bureau includes pre-audit, and post-audit control, whereas the judicial functions include control of accounts and control of public employees. The problems that the Bureau of Accounts faces are to be divided into two broad divisions: internal and external. The internal problems that the Bureau faces while it performs its duties and responsibilities are to be subdivided into three parts: legislative, administrative, and professional. The legislative problems include: 1- Deficiencies in Lebanon's Bureau of Accounts legislation specifically pertaining to its constitutional rights and privileges and its autonomy. 2- Discrepancy between what the law stipulates and what is put actually into practice. 3- No clear dichotomy between politics and administration. The administrative problems include: 1- Shortage of qualified personnel in the Bureau of Accounts. 2- More concern and emphasis on pre-audit rather than post-audit control. 3- Manual accounting methods. The professional problems include: 1- Unavailability of machines and equipments in the Bureau of Accounts. 2- Public employees lack the experience to use computers in performing their duties. In conducting its supervision and control functions, the Bureau encounters many problems with public agencies and ministries. This study concentrates on the problems the Bureau faces with three important ministries. These were chosen for the following reasons: The Ministries of Public Works and National Education and Youth and Sports, for their sizeable share of public budget estimated at around 4.8% and 4.2% respectively of the whole public budget; and the Ministry of Finance for its important role in financial control. The external problems of the Bureau of Accounts may be summarized as follows: 1- Illegality of the financial transactions. 2- Violations of the prevailing laws, rules and regulations. - vii - 3- Inefficiency in performing governmental activities. The solutions proposed by this study and by some bureaucrats may be summarized as follows: 1- To review government laws, rules and regulations; 2- To increase the number of staff in the Bureau of Accounts; 3- To introduce new methods and techniques in the Bureau to facilitate the computation and preservation of transactions; 4- To replace the manual accounting methods by new modernized systems; 5- To raise pre-audit control from five to ten million Lebanese pounds; 6- To grant the Bureau of Accounts more autonomy and independence in performing its duties and responsibilities; 7- To train and recruit new employees in the Bureau of Accounts; 8- To equip the Bureau's library with documents and references pertinent to the subject matter; 9- To raise the salary of public employees in the Bureau of Accounts so that they will not be tempted to move to the private sector; 10- To appoint engineers, surveyors, and technicians in the Bureau of Accounts to estimate the values of materials and equipments; 11- To issue a special law enabling the Bureau to exercise control over the economic and development plans; 12- To determine the principles of the Bureau's control over institutions that have financial relations with the government; 13- To issue periodical bulletins explaining government policies in the public sector; 14- To avoid conflicting interests between the Bureau of Accounts and the Council of Ministers; and, 15- To promote the principles of efficiency and effectiveness in public administration. On the whole, although the Bureau of Accounts in Lebanon faces many problems and weaknesses, it has proved to be, however, an indispensable central financial control agency, without whose existence public funds will be abused and wasted.
