Rivers and Waterways in the Roman World Andrew Tibbs,Peter B. Campbell,2023-11-30 Taking a broad geographical, temporal, and cross-disciplinary approach, this volume explores new and innovative research which focuses on rivers and waterways from across the Roman world. Rivers and Waterways in the Roman World brings together cross-disciplinary chapters focussing on theoretical approaches, new digital and scientific methods and analytical techniques, and related surveying and excavation case studies to examine the Romans' extensive use of rivers and inland waterways around the Empire. Roman seafaring is well studied, but this book expands our knowledge of Roman transport, communication, and trade networks inland. The book highlights the challenges of archaeological work in the dynamic environments of rivers and waterways and showcases the use of new methodologies, including the increasing availability and accessibility of digital technologies that have led to a growth in the development and application of new archaeological and analytical techniques, as well as the discovery of new archaeological sites, many of which were previously inaccessible. This book is for archaeologists, historians, classicists, and geographers with an interest in the history and archaeology of the Roman Empire. La trama Nascosta - Storie di mercanti e altro Rita Mazzei, 2011-11-25 La «trama nascosta» è quella che emerge dalla ricostruzione delle vicende di alcuni personaggi qui osservati, pur nell'ambito delle specifiche competenze, nelle vesti di tramiti di trasferimenti "culturali". In uno spazio che è quello dell'Europa meno fittamente abitata, che nei suoi confini dilatati si apre a est. A ben vedere, più o meno, l'Europa entrata con il nuovo millennio nell'Unione Europea.

The Oxford Handbook of Persian Linguistics Anousha Sedighi, Pouneh Shabani-Jadidi, 2018-08-02 This handbook offers a comprehensive overview of the field of Persian linguistics, discusses its development, and captures critical accounts of cutting edge research within its major subfields, as well as outlining current debates and suggesting productive lines of future research. Chapters in Part II examine topics relating to phonetics and phonology, while Part III looks at approaches to and features of Persian syntax. The fourth part of the volume explores morphology and lexicography, as well as the work of the Academy of Persian Language and Literature. Part V, language and people, covers topics such as language contact and teaching Persian as a foreign language, while the final part examines psycho- neuro-, and computational linguistics. The volume will be an essential resource for all scholars with an interest in Persian language and linguistics.

Dynamic Force Spectroscopy and Biomolecular Recognition Anna Rita Bizzarri, Salvatore Cannistraro, 2012-01-25
Molecular recognition, also known as biorecognition, is the heart of all biological interactions. Originating from protein stretching experiments, dynamic force spectroscopy (DFS) allows for the extraction of detailed information on the unbinding process of biomolecular complexes. It is becoming progressively more important in biochemical studies and is finding wider applications in areas such as biophysics and polymer science. In six chapters, Dynamic Force Spectroscopy and Biomolecular Recognition covers the most recent ideas and advances in the field of DFS applied to biorecognition: Chapter 1: Reviews the basic and novel aspects of biorecognition and discusses the emerging capabilities of single-molecule techniques to disclose kinetic properties and molecular mechanisms usually hidden in bulk measurements Chapter 2: Describes the basic principle of atomic force microscopy (AFM) and DFS, with particular attention to instrumental and theoretical aspects more strictly related to the study of biomolecules Chapter 3: Overviews the theoretical background in which experimental data taken in nonequilibrium measurements of biomolecular unbinding forces are extrapolated to equilibrium conditions Chapter 4: Reviews the most common and efficient strategies adopted in DFS experiments to immobilize the interacting biomolecules to the AFM tip and to the substrate Chapter 5: Presents and discusses the most representative aspects related to the analysis of DFS data and the challenges of integrating well-defined criteria to calibrate data in automatic routine procedures Chapter 6: Overviews the most relevant DFS applications to study biorecognition processes, including the biotin/avidin pair, and selected results on various biological complexes, including antigen/antibody, proteins/DNA, and complexes involved in adhesion processes Chapter 7: Summarizes the main results obtained by DFS applied to study biorecognition processes with forthcoming theoretical and experimental advances Although DFS is a widespread, worldwide technique, no books focused on this subject have been available until now. Dynamic Force Spectroscopy and Biomolecular Recognition provides the state of the art of experimental data analysis and theoretical procedures, making it a useful tool for researchers applying DFS to study biorecognition processes.

The Sīh-Rōzag in Zoroastrianism Enrico Raffaelli, 2014-01-10 Focusing on the Avestan and Pahlavi versions of the Sīh-rōzag, a text worshipping Zoroastrian divine entities, this book explores the spiritual principles and physical realities associated with them. Introducing the book is an overview of the structural, linguistic and historico-religious elements of the Avestan Sīh-rōzag. This overview, as well as reconstructing its approximate chronology, helps in understanding the original ritual function of the text and its relationship to the other Avestan texts. The book then studies the translation of the text in the Middle Persian language, Pahlavi, which was produced several centuries after its initial composition, when Avestan was no longer understood by the majority of the Zoroastrian community. Addressing the lacuna in literature examining an erstwhile neglected Zoroastrian text, The Sih-Rozag in Zoroastrianism includes a detailed commentary and an English translation of both the Avestan and Pahlavi version of the Sih-rōzag and will be of interest to researchers and scholars of Iranian Studies, Religion, and History.

The Making of the Ancient Greek Economy Alain Bresson, 2019-01-08 A revolutionary account of the ancient Greek economy This comprehensive introduction to the ancient Greek economy revolutionizes our understanding of the subject and its possibilities. Alain Bresson is one of the world's leading authorities in the field, and he is helping to redefine it. Here he combines a thorough knowledge of ancient sources with innovative new approaches grounded in recent economic historiography to provide a detailed picture of the Greek economy between the last century of the Archaic Age and the closing of the Hellenistic period. Focusing on the city-state, which he sees as the most important economic institution in the Greek world, Bresson addresses all of the city-states rather than only Athens. An expanded and updated English edition of an acclaimed work originally published in French, the book offers a groundbreaking new theoretical framework for studying the economy of ancient Greece; presents a masterful survey and analysis of the most important economic institutions, resources, and other factors; and addresses some major historiographical debates. Among the many topics covered are climate, demography, transportation, agricultural production, market institutions, money and credit, taxes, exchange, long-distance trade, and economic growth. The result is an unparalleled demonstration that, unlike just a generation ago, it is possible today to study the ancient Greek economy as an economy and not merely as a secondary aspect of social or political history. This is essential reading for students, historians of antiquity, and economic historians of all periods.

E-Government: Towards Electronic Democracy Michael Böhlen, Johann Gamper, Wolfgang Polasek, Maria A. Wimmer, 2005-02-16 The TCGOV 2005 international conference on e-government was held at the Free University of Bozen-Bolzano during March 2-4, 2005. The conference was initiated by the working group "Towards Electronic Democracy" (TED) of the European Science Foundation and was jointly organized by the Free University of Bozen-Bolzano, the Municipality of Bozen-Bolzano, the TED Working Group, and the IFIP Working Group 8.5. The conference addressed a large spectrum of issues that are relevant and have to be investigated for a successful transition from the traditional form of government to a new form known as e-government. The main focus was on the following topics: - improving citizen participation and policy making (e-democracy) - government application integration - semantic Web technologies for e-government - security aspects for e-government services Two sessions were dedicated to e-democracy, an emerging area within government that seeks to enhance democratic processes and provide increased opportunities for individuals and communities to be involved in governmental decisions. The contributions of these two sessions cover more fundamental results and insights as well as experiences from different countries. Another focus was on government application integration and the use of - mantic Web technologies, which are important technical aspects on the agenda of e-government research. Different architectures for the integration and orchestration of distributed services and processes were presented along with two case studies. Three papers about Semantic Web technologies discussed the use of ontologies in e-government.

Chromatin Signaling and Neurological Disorders, 2019-05-24 Chromatin Signaling and Neurological Disorders, Volume Seven, explores our current understanding of how chromatin signaling regulates access to genetic information, and how their aberrant regulation can contribute to neurological disorders. Researchers, students and clinicians will not only gain a strong grounding on the relationship between chromatin signaling and neurological disorders, but they'll also discover approaches to better interpret and employ new diagnostic studies and epigenetic-based therapies. A diverse range of chapters from international experts speaks to the basis of chromatin and epigenetic signaling pathways and specific chromatin signaling factors that regulate a range of diseases. In addition to the basic science of chromatin signaling factors, each disease-specific chapter speaks to the translational or clinical significance of recent findings, along with important implications for the development of epigenetics-based therapeutics. Common themes of translational significance are also identified across disease types, as well as the future potential of chromatin signaling research. - Examines specific chromatin signaling factors that regulate spinal muscular atrophy, ulbosspinal muscular atrophy, amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, Parkinson's disease, Huntington's disease, multiple sclerosis, Angelman syndrome, Rader-Willi syndrome, and more - Contains chapter contributions from international experts who speak to the clinical significance of recent findings and the implications for the development of epigenetics-based therapeutics - Provides researchers, students and clinicians with approaches to better interpret and employ new diagnostic studies for treating neurological disorders

Forest Monitoring, 2013-03-16 The demand for comparable, long-term, high quality data on forest ecosystems' status and changes is increasing at the international and global level. Yet, sources for such data are limited and in many case it is not possible to compare data from different monitoring initiatives across space and time because of methodological differences. Apart from technical manuals, there is no comprehensive multidisciplinary, scientific, peer-reviewed reference for forest monitoring methods that can serve and support the user community. This book provides in a single reference the state-of-the-art of monitoring methods as applied at the international level. The book present scientific concepts and methods that form the basis of the transnational, long-term forest monitoring in Europe and looks at other initiatives at the global level. Standardized methods that have been developed over two decades in international forest monitoring projects are presented. Emphasis is put on trans-nationally harmonized methods, related data quality issues, current achievements and on remaining open questions. - A comprehensive overview of needs, requirements, organization and possible outcomes of an integrated monitoring program - Tested and quality assured, internationally harmonized methodologies based on a complete revision of existing methods carried out in 2009-2011 - Connection with monitoring results allows assessment of the potential of the monitoring method

Cento anni di stampa periodica nel Lazio: 1870-1970 AA. VV., 2016-03-20T00:00:00+01:00 Frutto di una ricerca - sostenuta dal contributo dell'Assessorato alla Cultura della Regione Lazio e realizzata da un gruppo di istituti culturali romani - durata diversi anni, il volume comprende le schede di 860 periodici, reperiti in diverse biblioteche, e di circa 300 periodici citati in saggi o repertori ma non reperiti nelle biblioteche, tutti pubblicati nella regione Lazio tra il 1870 e il 1970. Già il numero delle testate individuate appare di per sé sufficiente a testimoniare di una vitalità che la stampa locale riusciva ad avere anche nel Lazio. E, accanto ad essa, non può essere dimenticata la vitalità di alcune delle tipografie dove questi periodici venivano stampati. Questa stampa periodica, spesso dalla vita breve, espresse i suoi prodotti più maturi nel primo quindicennio del XX secolo, quasi manifestazione di bisogni e di spinte che il mutamento culturale e sociale stava producendo. Cercò, come poté, di tenere dietro all'avvento della società di massa e di interpretarlo; prima dei mutamenti introdotti dal regime totalitario, fu lo stesso succedersi tumultuoso degli avvenimenti a imprimere degli scossoni non solo ai periodici e alle loro redazioni e organizzazioni editoriali, ma anche ai gruppi sociali - soprattutto borghesi medi e piccoli - dei quali molti di essi erano espressione. Passata la fase dell'immediato dopoguerra, quando si produsse una nuova breve stagione anche per una stampa pubblica locale autonoma e creativa, nella nuova fase caratterizzata dall'organizzazione pluralistica della politica di massa, sorsero nuovi ostacoli. Questi erano destinati a incidere fino agli anni successivi alla grande trasformazione del miracolo economico e a venir meno solo a partire dalla metà degli anni Settanta, prima gradualmente, poi con maggiore incidenza, nella stagione prima delle radio locali, poi della nascita dei quotidiani e dei periodici locali gratuiti e di quelli on-line dei nostri tempi. Scorrendo i titoli dei periodici, il lettore si incuriosirà e sarà spinto ad addentrarsi nel repertorio guardandolo da più punti di vista, con la possibilità, anche solo attraverso la lettura dei titoli e dei sottotitoli, di ricostruire, a partire dalla seconda metà dell'Ottocento, le vicende e il clima di una regione così composta quale è il Lazio, un Lazio in parte ancora poco conosciuto, animato da vitalità, da conflitti e da fratture importanti. Il volume è a cura di Ambretta Rosicarelli e Lucia Zannino.

Constructing the Ancient World Carmelo G. Malacrino, 2010 A survey of building techniques & architecture from the 3rd century B.C. through the fifth century A.D., this volume explores how the Greeks of the classical period & later the Romans created a complex & innovative built environment.

The Charisma of Distant Places Courtney Luckhardt, 2019-07-15 This cultural history of early medieval travel and religion reveals how movement affected society, demonstrating the connectedness of people and regions between 500 and 850 CE. In The Charisma of Distant Places, Courtney Luckhardt enriches our understanding of migration through her examination of religious movement. Vertical links to God and horizontal links to distant regions identified religious travelers - both men and women - as holy, connected to the human and the divine across physical and spiritual distances. Using textual sources, material culture, and place studies, this project is among the first to contextualize the geographic and temporal movement of early medieval people to reveal the diversity of religious travel, from the voluntary journeys of pilgrims to the forced travel of Christian slaves. Luckhardt offers new ways of understanding ideas about power, holiness, identity, and mobility during the transformation of the Roman world in the global Middle Ages. By focusing on the religious dimensions of early medieval people and the regions they visited, this book addresses probing questions, including how and why medieval people communicated and connected with one another across boundaries, both geographical and imaginative.
