Gianni Paganini, José R. M. Neto

Clucky the Hen Mar Pavón, 2011-10-01 Winner at the 2011 International Latino Book Awards Clucky the Hen has a big heart, but she's clumsy and forgetful too. A tale ideal for learning to accept the faults of those around us. Guided Reading Level: M, Lexile Level: 900L

The Andean Cloud Forest Randall W. Myster, 2020-11-12 A book focused solely on Andean Cloud Forests (ACF) has never been published. ACF are high biodiversity ecosystems in the Neotropics with a large proportion of endemic species, and are important for the hydrology of entire regions. They provide water for large parts of the Amazon basin, for example. Here I take advantage of my many years working in ACF in Ecuador, to edit this book that contains the following sections: (1) ACF over space and time, (2) Hydrology, (3) Light and the Carbon cycle, (4) Soil, litter, fungi and nutrient cycling, (5) Plants, (6) Animals, and (7) Human impacts and management. Under this premise, international experts contributed chapters that consist of reviews of what is known about their topic, of what research they have done, and of what needs to be done in the future. This work is suitable for graduate students, professors, scientists, and researcher-oriented managers.

Zaira and the Dolphins Mar Pavón, 2012-04-01 Winner at the 2012 Living Now Book Awards A story full of magic and fun, embracing the amazing imagination that breathes life into the games that we play as children, and our dreams as adults. Guided Reading Level: L, Lexile Level: 620L

The Cow on the Roof Eric Maddern, 2007-04-01 Every day Shon goes out to plough the fields, while his wife Sian works at home in the farmyard. Shon feels he does all the work, so his wife suggests they swap work for the day. Shon looks forward to an easy time of it, with very little to do, but he is in for a surprise... This well-known European folk tale carries a message for us all: count your blessings, and stick to what you do best!

Lorac Neus Figueras, 2019-10-21 Lorac didn't set out to be the voice of the ocean, but when the future is at stake, being a hero is the only choice. A tragedy confines Lorac to a wild island where he is lonely and sad—until he meets a one-of-a-kind ally. Helped by his new friend Zoe, he leaves the island and goes to live underwater. The transition isn't easy, and unexpected difficulties arise. But at the bottom of the sea, Lorac joins a family of centenarian creatures and discovers the secrets of the coral reef—his real home. However, a disease that affects the entire planet spreads throughout the marine world, and Lorac, fearful for the lives of his loved ones, departs to the place he once knew and now knows no more, in a daring mission to find its origin and cure. But . . . how can he fight the intangible? Lorac will have to make difficult decisions, live in worlds where he doesn't belong, and prove his worth for the good of all. Science and fantasy come together in a young-adult fiction that fights for our planet. Includes fifteen original illustrations in grayscale.

Career Guidance for Social Justice Tristram Hooley, Ronald Sultana, Rie Thomsen, 2017-11-22 This edited collection examines the intersections between career guidance, social justice and neo-liberalism. Contributors offer an original and global discussion of the role of career guidance in the struggle for social justice and evaluate the field from a diverse range of theoretical positions. Through a series of chapters that positions career guidance within a neoliberal context and presents theories to inform an emancipatory direction for the field, this book raises questions, offers resources and provides some glimpses of an alternative future for work. Drawing on education, sociology, and political science, this book addresses the theoretical basis of career guidance's involvement in social justice as well as the methodological consequences in relation to career guidance research.

Renaissance Scepticisms Gianni Paganini, José R. M. Neto, 2008-11-14 Even if specific pieces of research (on the sources or on individual authors, such as Pico, Agrippa, Erasmus, Montaigne, Sanches etc.) have given and are still producing significant results on Renaissance scepticism, an overall synthesis comprising the entire period has not been achieved yet. No predetermined idea of that complex historical subject that is Renaissance scepticism underlies this book, and we want to sacrifice the complexity of movements, personalities, tendencies and interpretations to any sort of a priori unity of theme even less. We acknowledge unhesitatingly that we had always thought of "scepticisms" in the plural, and believe that the different contexts (philosophical, religious, cultural) in which these forms grew up must also be taken into account. Furthermore, given the transversal nature and provocative character of the sceptical challenge, this book contains essays also on philosophers who, without being sceptics and sometimes engaged in fighting scepticism, nevertheless took up its challenge. The main authors considered in this book are: Vives, Castellio, Agrippa, Pedro de Valencia, Pico, Sanchez, Montaigne, Charron, Bruno, Bacon, and Campanella. The various essays in the book show the relevance of the philosophical thought of authors little known by the general public and put in new perspective important aspects of the thought of some of the great thinkers of the Renaissance.

Plants and People Alexandre Chevalier, Elena Marinova, Leonor Pena-Chocarro, 2014-04-30 This first monograph in the EARTH series, The dynamics of non-industrial agriculture: 8,000 years of resilience and innovation, approaches the great variety of agricultural practices in human terms. It focuses on the relationship between plants and people, the complexity of agricultural processes and their organisation within particular communities and societies. Collaborative European research among archaeologists, archaeobotanists, ethnographers, historians and agronomists using a broad analytical scale of investigation seeks to establish new common ground for integrating different approaches. By means of interdisciplinary examples, this book showcases the relationship between people and plants across wide ranging and diverse spatial and temporal milieus, including crop diversity, the use of wild foodstuffs, social context, status and choices of food plants.

Conceptualising Integration in CLIL and Multilingual Education Tarja Nikula, Emma Dafouz, Pat Moore, Ute Smit, 2016-08-18 Content and Language Integrated Learning (CLIL) is a form of education that combines language and content learning objectives, a shared concern with other models of bilingual education. While CLIL research has often addressed learning outcomes, this volume focuses on how integration can be conceptualised and investigated. Using different theoretical and methodological approaches, ranging from socioconstructivist learning theories to systemic functional linguistics, the book explores three intersecting perspectives on integration concerning curriculum and pedagogic planning, participant perceptions and classroom practices. The ensuing multidimensionality highlights that in the inherent connectedness of content and language, various institutional, pedagogical and personal aspects of integration also need to be considered.

3rd Symposium of Ubiquitous Computing and Ambient Intelligence 2008 Juan Manuel Corchado Rodríguez, Dante Tapia, Jose Bravo, 2008-09-16 The Symposium on Ubiquitous Computing and Ambient Intelligence (UCAmI) began as a workshop held in 2003 in San Sebastián (Spain) under the Spanish Artificial Intelligence Conference. This event gathered 32 attendees and 18 papers were presented. The second edition, already as a Symposium, took place in Granada (Spain) under the first Spanish Computer Science Conference (CEDI). Later, in 2006, a second workshop was celebrated in Ciudad Real and, in 2007; the second Symposium was organized in Zaragoza by the CEDI conference. Now we continue to work on the organization of this event in Salamanca, a beautiful Spanish city. The European Community and the Sixth and Seventh Framework Programs - encourage researchers to explore the generic scope of the AmI vision. In fact, some researchers have a crucial role in this vision. Emile Aarts from Philips describes - bient Intelligence as the integration of technology into our environment, so that people can freely and interactively utilize it. This idea agrees with the proposal of Mark Weiser regarding the Ubiquitous Computing paradigm.

Principles of Tourism Management Johanna Muller, 2016-06-03 There has been a recent upsurge in the tourism sector across the globe. This has facilitated the progress of tourism industry and its contribution to the economy of the world. This book is a collection of recent theories and concepts in the field. It covers a diverse array of topics such as cultural tourism, sustainable tourism, impact of economic and non-economic factors on tourism, importance of marketing, etc. The aim of this text is to bring forth the most innovative case studies to provide the readers with a truly global overview of the subject. Pooh! Is that You, Bertie? David Roberts,2004 Bertie can be a bit smelly. When he trumps, it makes his mum cross, embarrasses his dad, upsets his gran and offends his sister. But they all have a secret - and Bertie knows what it is.

I Want to Be Philberta Mar Pavón,2014-01-01 Bronze Medal at the 2013 Moonbeam Children's Book Awards. A fun, tongue-in-cheek story about the magic of books and the power of imagination. Mary wants to be Philberta and everyone looks at her as if she was an alien—but who is Philberta? Mary's dad wants to be rich. Mary's mom wants to live in a better house. The principal of her school wants to retire, and her teacher wants to be her new principal. Like all of the other grown-ups in the little girl's life, they spend their time wishing for things that they believe will make them feel completely satisfied. So why do they look at Mary as if she were some kind of freak when she's got a wish of her own: to be Philberta! Maybe the mysterious storybook that Mary always carries with her can help put an end to all these useless wishes. I Want to Be Philberta reminds us that there's nothing more gratifying than letting yourself get carried away in the fantasy of a good book.

Clucky in the Garden of Mirrors Mar Pavón,2011-09-01 Winner at the 2012 Independent Publisher Book Awards and 2012 International Latino Book Awards. Clucky the Hen and her chicks decide to go camping in the Garden of Mirrors, a place full of fun and magic where they will discover the unbreakable bond of family. Clucky the Hen and her chicks decide to go camping in the Garden of Mirrors, a place full of fun and magic and whose guardian is a very strange creature indeed. Once they arrive, they soon will know that the mirrors in that garden have unique powers, and will reveal the most wonderful emotions to them. Mirror by mirror, the family will learn to stick together and to always give support to the one who feels lost. This is the second story featuring the adorable hen, who once again amazes us with her clumsiness and her kindheartedness—this time leading us into a world of fantasy.
