Submerged Landscapes of the European Continental Shelf Nicholas C. Flemming, Jan Harff, Delminda Moura, Anthony Burgess, Geoffrey N. Bailey, 2017-08-07 Quaternary Paleoenvironments examines the drowned landscapes exposed as extensive and attractive territory for prehistoric human settlement during the Ice Ages of the Pleistocene, when sea levels dropped to 120m-135m below their current levels. This volume provides an overview of the geological, geomorphological, climatic and sea-level history of the European continental shelf as a whole, as well as a series of detailed regional reviews for each of the major sea basins. The nature and variable attractions of the landscapes and resources available for human exploitation are examined, as are the conditions under which archaeological sites and landscape features are likely to have been preserved, destroyed or buried by sediment during sea-level rise. The authors also discuss the extent to which we can predict where to look for drowned landscapes with the greatest chance of success, with frequent reference to examples of preserved prehistoric sites in different submerged environments. Quaternary Paleoenvironments will be of interest to archaeologists, geologists, marine scientists, palaeoanthropologists, cultural heritage managers, geographers, and all those with an interest in the drowned landscapes of the continental shelf.

A Complete Guide to the Birds of Malta Natalino Fenech, 2010 Lying in the centre of the Mediterranean, Malta is a natural staging post for migrant birds crossing from Africa to Europe in spring as well as for migrants returning from their breeding grounds in Europe to the African continent in autumn. Birds have attracted man's attention for a long time and this book shows images of birds in prehistory, art, stamps, coins, antique embroidery and so forth. It also speaks about birds in all aspects of Maltese culture, from folklore to language. It is also a photographic record of many of the birds that regularly visit the islands and features ones that are rare or have been recorded a handful of times. It also contains several unpublished records dating from 1958.

Geology and Geomorphology of Alluvial and Fluvial Fans Dario Ventra,Lucy E. Clarke,2019 Alluvial and fluvial fans are the most widespread depositional landform bordering the margins of highland regions and actively subsiding continental basins, across a broad spectrum of tectonic and climatic settings. They are significant to the local morphodynamics of mountain regions and also to the evolution of sediment-routing systems, affecting the propagation and preservation of stratigraphic signals of environmental change over vast areas. The volume presents case studies discussing the geology and geomorphology of alluvial and fluvial fans from both active systems and ancient ones preserved in the stratigraphic record. It brings together case studies from a range of continents, climatic and tectonic settings, some introducing innovative monitoring and analysis techniques, and it provides an overview of current debates in the field.

Canova Antonio Canova,1992

The Amenity Migrants Laurence A. G. Moss,2006 Places with perceived high environmental quality and distinctive culture are globally attracting amenity migrants. Today this societal driving force is particularly manifest in mountain areas, and while beneficial for both the newcomers and locals, is also threatening highland ecologies and their human communities.

Stratigraphic Analysis of Layered Deposits Ömer Elitok,2012-04-27 Stratigraphy, a branch of geology, is the science of describing the vertical and lateral relationships of different rock formations formed through time to understand the earth history. These relationships may be based on lithologic properties (named lithostratigraphy), fossil content (labeled biostratigraphy), magnetic properties (called magnetostratigraphy), chemical features (named chemostratigraphy), reflection seismology (named seismic stratigraphy), age relations (called chronostratigraphy). Also, it refers to archaeological deposits called archaeological stratigraphy. Stratigraphy is built on the concept the present is the key to the past which was first outlined by James Hutton in the late 1700s and developed by Charles Lyell in the early 1800s. This book focuses particularly on application of geophysical methods in stratigraphic investigations and stratigraphic analysis of layered basin deposits from different geologic settings and present continental areas extending from Mexico region (north America) through Alpine belt including Italy, Greece, Iraq to Russia (northern Asia).

Le prime albe del mondo Marco Albino Ferrari, 2014-07-03T00:00:00+02:00 «Si ammira chi è in grado di 'sconfiggere l'ignoto', eppure sentiamo l'intimo bisogno che l'ignoto continui a esistere. Per poter sognare abbiamo bisogno che rimanga una porzione sconosciuta di natura che ci porti verso le prime albe del mondo. Un luogo della nostalgia. Esiste ancora?» Verso quei luoghi, in compagnia di viaggiatori del passato, ci porta un instancabile scopritore di storie. «La via sulla Est del Petit Capucin era stata ripetuta pochissime volte, e la mia speranza era di trovare con un po' di fortuna uno dei chiodi originali piantati dallo stesso Gervasutti e rimasti in parete ad arrugginire per quasi mezzo secolo. Ciò che stavo per compiere - ed era ciò che più mi eccitava - era il ritorno su antiche tracce alpinistiche ormai quasi dimenticate. Era l'esplorazione di un'antica esplorazione». Marco Albino Ferrari ripercorre le strade di quegli uomini e di quelle donne che attratti dall'ebbrezza dell'ignoto si sono spinti nei luoghi inesplorati della Terra: montagne, oceani, ghiacciai, spazi infiniti. I passi di Walter Bonatti, quelli di Reinhold Messner, di Bill Tilman, di Ninì Pietrasanta e Gabriele Boccalatte, di Eric Shipton, degli ultimi esploratori del Novecento. Un inconsueto cammino attraverso il Monte Bianco, le cime della Patagonia e dell'Africa equatoriale, fino all'Everest e a Capo Horn, per far ritorno sulle Alpi. Ne esce una lettura trascinate e intimamente interrogativa, popolata di bufere, di sorprese, di difficoltà con, sullo sfondo, le questioni cruciali che investono l'uomo di fronte agli ultimi spazi selvaggi del pianeta.

The Ascent of the Matterhorn Edward Whymper, 1880 The first edition narrating the ascent of the Matterhorn, with numerous illustrations: maps, views, equipment

In viaggio con Marco e i suoi fratelli Marco Antonio Giacomoni, 2022-08-09 È una narrazione a volo d' uccello che racconta episodi vari, a mio avviso interessanti, divertenti, drammatici ed altamente drammatici. Iniziamo con la vicenda del parto gemellare, avvenuto in casa a Genova, inatteso e drammatico in quanto uscivo con l'arto superiore destro protesico, rendendo impossibile un parto normale. Il trasferimento a Milano, la guerra con il razionamento degli alimenti, l'oscuramento, la cultura fascista. Il dramma di Genova che subisce, in pieno giorno, un terribile bombardamento navale da parte di cinque unità della marina britannica. Lo sfollamento in Valtellina. La caduta di Mussolini, l'8 Settembre '43; l'occupazione germanica; la consegna, al comando tedesco, dei fucili, preda bellica di mio padre, combattente della Prima guerra mondiale. I posti di blocco dei Fascisti. La nostra fuga dalla Valtellina per Varese quando i Fascisti hanno cominciato a costruire trincee, fossati anticarro, fortificazioni in vicinanza del paese in cui eravamo sfollati (Ponte in Valtellina) per l'ultima resistenza. In treno, su carri bestiame stipatissimi, in cinque ore da Ponte a Milano Centrale. Da Milano a Varese con blocco del treno fuori Milano e fuga dei passeggeri per la presenza di "Pippo", caccia-bombardiere alleato che volava sul Nord Italia, colpendo tutti gli obiettivi che potevano ostacolare l'avanzata alleata verso il Nord. A Varese i vari Pippo sono una presenza costante Il 25 Aprile; la caccia ai Fascisti. Il ritorno a Milano; la casa distrutta. Poi, la scuola, l'Università, la laurea in Medicina e Chirurgia, il servizio Militare come Ufficiale dei paracadutisti della Folgore. La vita ospedaliera come chirurgo a Milano, Piacenza poi ancora a Milano. La difficoltà di carriera ospedaliera per chi non ha un "Padrino". Il divorzio, per scelta di mia moglie e la volontà dei miei figli di restare con me. L'esperienza politica come Assessore alla Sanità e Servizi Sociali della Giunta Formentini, al Comune di Milano dove, fra l'altro, ho istituito il "Centro contro le Violenze Sessuali alle Donne ed ai Minori", primo in Italia, superando notevoli difficoltà. E, per finire, Consigliere del Consiglio di amministrazione del Pio Albergo Trivulzio in Milano, dove ho dovuto lottare contro interessi interni, per trasformare i locali dei "Martini", in via Pitteri, in un Campus Universitario per studenti lombardi non residenti a Milano. In quest'ultima esperienza sono stato vittima, con tutto il Consiglio, di attacchi strumentali gravissimi che, però, non hanno portato a nulla, neppure alle scuse da parte di quei giornali che avevano montato il presunto scandalo, sgonfiatosi spontaneamente, dopo aver sputtanato un Consiglio di persone per bene.
