The Challenges of the Humanities, Past, Present, and Future Albrecht Classen, 2018-10-08 This book is a printed edition of the Special Issue The Challenges of the Humanities, Past, Present, and Future - Volume 1 that was published in Humanities

Addressing Methodological Challenges in Interpreting Studies Research Claudio Bendazzoli, Claudia Monacelli, 2016-06-22 Using interaction as a fundamental springboard, Addressing Methodological Challenges in Interpreting Studies Research showcases the major breakthrough in interpreting studies made by investigating community interpreting and the inherent high degree of participant interaction. The book adds a 'reflexive' twist, and espouses the notion of the analyst as not separate from the context under study. After looking at dialogue interpreters, cast away from the carpeted walls of sound-proof booths and deprived of the spotlighted lectern-podium position at high level fora, it has become clear that the interpreter's invisibility, not to mention their neutrality, is uppermost in the minds of both users and providers in terms of expectations. Among all the participants in any 'mediated' communicative situation, it is the interpreter who is exceedingly visible and potentially most influential in shaping and coordinating the ongoing exchanges. The book proposes that a similar view be applied to researchers engaged in interpreting research, especially in empirical investigations. Different forms of 'interaction' between researchers and the data in their studies are inevitable. This applies to every stage of their work, ranging from all the pre-analysis activities to the analysis itself, and the post-analysis stage, in which results are disseminated in the research community and, possibly, the target population. This volume will stand to benefit all those who work with researching language issues, not only because of the various approaches covered in the volume, but also because of the ways in which they are reframed as a result of shifting contextual constraints.

Prodesse et delectare Norbert Kössinger, Claudia Wittig, 2019-12-02 The Horatian formula prodesse et delectare was extremely influential in the production of texts across various languages and genres. While indeed didactic elements can be attested to in almost any medieval text, and while medieval literature displays a range of possibilities to teach and instruct, the scope of the present volume is more closely focused on explicitly didactic literature. This volume combines contributions that analyse didactic literature in high medieval Europe from different vantage points. They open new perspectives on education as a working principle or legitimizing strategy in the heterogeneous forms of writing intended to convey knowledge. This broad thematic, linguistic and geographical scope enables us to view didactic literature as the universal phenomenon it was and prompts us to understand its influence on many aspects of society in high medieval Europe and beyond. While the contributions explore case studies predominantly from this period of transition and the expansion of the categories of knowledge, they also trace some of these developments into the later Middle Ages to spotlight the lasting influence of high medieval teaching and learning in literature. The way medieval writers combine 'the pleasant' with 'the useful' is this book's main question.

Guide of Modern Rome Irene De Guttry,2001

Early Framers of Tourism Knowledge, Volume III Metin Kozak,Nazmi Kozak,2023-06-27 This book emphasises the work, the remarkable contributions, and the lifetime achievements of internationally respected scholars who have made lifelong contribution to advancing tourism studies and the dissemination of tourism-based knowledge and education across the world. Strengthening a field and its ability to form the own traditions is undoubtedly possible with a bridge to be established between the past, present and future. The capacity of research carried out today and in the future is built on the outputs of education and research completed in the past, adding new links to the chain. The history of tourism studies and education dates to the early years of the 20th century and began recording a momentum in its second half. There is, therefore, a lot more to do in terms of the institutionalization of such a young and dynamic field and this book aims to introduce tourism scholars with their widest geographical representation, dating from the first years of tourism research back in the early 1900s. Volume III of IV includes tributes to 20 scholars who have defined tourism as an object of academic study, established its foundations and organisations, and widened its scope to encompass thousands of empirical studies. Each of these volumes contains different profiles thereby bringing 80 of the pioneers in tourism more vividly to life. This book was originally published as a special issue of Anatolia: An International Journal of Tourism & Hospitality Research.

Reconstructing Italy Stephanie Zeier Pilat,2016-04-08 Reconstructing Italy traces the postwar transformation of the Italian nation through an analysis of the Ina-Casa plan for working class housing, established in 1949 to address the employment and housing crises. Government sponsored housing programs undertaken after WWII have often been criticized as experiments that created more social problems than they solved. The neighborhoods of Ina-Casa stand out in contrast to their contemporaries both in terms of design and outcome. Unlike modernist high-rise housing projects of the period, Ina-Casa neighborhoods are picturesque and human-scaled and incorporate local construction materials and methods resulting in a rich aesthetic diversity. And unlike many other government forays into housing undertaken during this period, the Ina-Casa plan was, on the whole, successful: the neighborhoods are still lively and cohesive communities today. This book examines what made Ina-Casa a success among so many failed housing experiments, focusing on the tenuous balance struck between the legislation governing Ina-Casa, the architects who led the Ina-Casa administration, the theory of design that guided architects working on the plan, and an analysis of the results-the neighborhoods and homes constructed. Drawing on the writings of the architects, government documents, and including brief passages from works of neorealist literature and descriptions of neorealist films by Pier Paolo Pasolini, Italo Calvino and others, this book presents a portrait of the postwar struggle to define a post-Fascist Italy.

Rome: Continuing Encounters between Past and Present Dorigen Caldwell, 2016-12-05 Few other cities can compare with Rome's history of continuous habitation, nor with the survival of so many different epochs in its present. This volume explores how the city's past has shaped the way in which Rome has been built, rebuilt, represented and imagined throughout its history. Bringing together scholars from the disciplines of architectural history, urban studies, art history, archaeology and film studies, this book comprises a series of studies on the evolution of the city of Rome and the ways in which it has represented and reconfigured itself from the medieval period to the present day. Moving from material appropriations such as spolia in the medieval period, through the cartographic representations of the city in the early modern period, to filmic representation in the twentieth century, we encounter very different ways of making sense of the past across Rome's historical spectrum. The broad chronological arrangement of the chapters, and the choice of themes and urban locations examined in each, allows the reader to draw comparisons between historical periods. An imaginative approach to the study of the urban and architectural make-up of Rome, this volume will be valuable not only for historians of art and architecture, but also for students of cultural history and film studies.

Roma Giorgio Muratore, 2007 English summary: This volume of about 300 pages with text in Italian documents the architecture of the city of Rome from antiquity to the present day, taking the reader on a chronological and topographical journey through over 600 buildings with the help of analytic datasheets and photographs. A series of maps specially drawn up for the individual areas of the city enables rapid location of the monuments and reference to the datasheet. The editor's introduction appropriately precedes the body of datasheets and maps by tracing out a historical overview and signposting the various thematic itineraries, while an index by typologies and names concludes the volume. Italian description: Il volume di circa 300 pagine con testo italiano documenta l'architettura della città di Roma dall'antichità fino ai nostri giorni secondo un percorso cronologico e topografico che descrive attraverso una schedatura, anche fotografica, oltre 600 edifici. Una cartografia specifica, elaborata per ogni singolo settore urbano, consente la rapida individuazione di ogni opera e rinvia alla relativa scheda; un'introduzione storica del curatore precede il corpo delle schede e delle mappe e introduce ai diversi itinerari tematici; un indice analitico, per tipologia e per autore, conclude il volume.

L'architettura INA Casa (1949-1963) AA. VV., 2016-03-20T00:00:00+01:00 Il volume raccoglie alcuni risultati della ricerca La costruzione moderna in Italia: il patrimonio edilizio dell'INA Casa (1949-1963). Modi e tecniche per la conservazione ed il riuso che ha affrontato due questioni sempre più attuali: la conoscenza e la tutela dell'architettura del Novecento. Lo studio è stato condotto con l'obiettivo di individuare i caratteri più tipici della 'costruzione INA Casa' e di formulare linee di indirizzo preliminari al progetto di conservazione e recupero. Utilizzando fonti bibliografiche, documenti e disegni d'archivio, sono state ripercorse le fasi esecutive del cantiere e, attraverso rilievi diretti ed elaborazioni grafiche originali, sono state restituite, fin nel dettaglio, le soluzioni tecniche adottate. Questa documentata ricognizione su un momento particolare nell'evoluzione dell'edilizia in Italia - la fase di passaggio dalla ricostruzione postbellica al boom economico - costituisce un tassello della storia della costruzione moderna alla cui definizione gli autori lavorano da diversi anni. Il libro è articolato in due parti. Nella prima sono raccolti 31 studi su altrettanti quartieri. Qui vengono analizzati i caratteri architettonici e costruttivi degli edifici e vengono confrontati lo stato originario e quello attuale, risultato del degrado fisico e delle trasformazioni edilizie e urbane. Nella seconda parte, sulla base dell'analisi precedente, per una selezione di 12 casi sono presentate linee strategiche per l'intervento di recupero. Queste non sono configurate come programmi operativi esaurienti o come compendio di regole, ma come sondaggi parziali: ipotetici inizi di un iter progettuale che può trovare senso e valore solo nel suo concreto attuarsi.

Una storia quasi solo d'amore Paolo Di Paolo, 2016-03-03T00:00:00+01:00 Si incontrano una sera di ottobre, davanti a un teatro. Lui, rientrato da Londra, insegna recitazione a un gruppo di anziani. Lei lavora in un'agenzia di viaggi. Dal fascino indecifrabile di Teresa, Nino è confuso e turbato. Starle accanto lo costringe a pensare, a farsi e a fare domande, che via via acquisiscono altezza e spessore. Al di là dell'attrazione fisica, coglie in lei un enorme mistero, portato con semplicità e scioltezza. L'uno guarda l'altra come in uno specchio, che di entrambi riflette e scompone le scelte, le ambizioni, le inquietudini, le attese. Tanto Nino è figlio del suo tempo (molte passioni spente, nessuna tensione ideologica), tanto Teresa, con il suo segreto, sembra andare oltre. Ostaggi di un mondo invecchiato, si lanciano insieme verso un sentimento nuovo, come si trattasse di un patto, di una scommessa. Accade sotto lo sguardo lungo e partecipe di Grazia, zia di Teresa e insegnante di teatro di Nino, attor giovane allo sbando. Proprio mentre crescono l'attesa e il desiderio, Grazia esce di scena, creando una sorta di "dopo" che rilegge l'intera vicenda di Nino e Teresa, il loro cercarsi là dove sono più profondamente diversi. Paolo Di Paolo entra nel teatro della contemporaneità cogliendo i segni di un bene inaspettato, di una luce che si accende dove smettiamo di esigere garanzie, dove viene voglia di mettersi alla prova. E di capire se siamo in grado di vivere.
